AN ERA OF PROSPERITY

Is rapidly approaching for the South, and nowhere can this tendency be noted more forcibly than in Atlanta, the pulse of the South.

Because of its climate and unusual railroad facilities. Atlanta's growth is a natural one. These natural advantages are further augmented by the progressiveness of its citizenry. There could be no better combination to safeguard a city's consistent growth.

The opening of the Regional Bank on November 16 was an additional impetus to Atalnta's development; the significance of which, as an indication of Atlanta's financial strength, is patent.

"Every agent who persuades a husband and father to buy a policy has become a benefactor to that community. As individuals and as organizations, we are engaged in a high and holy calling-the preservation of the home; the distribution of the misfortunes of life; the helping of the helpless. We are building not only for to-day, but for the future."
